II. Notice

- Please avoid going out unless absolutely necessary and stay home as possible until the class starts.
- Please be modest and responsible as a student at the University of Fukui as avoiding places with a high risk of infection, especially where ventilation is poor and people are densely gathered. We also ask you to prevent infection with washing hands with soap and alcohol disinfectant and practicing cough etiquette. In addition, please check your temperature regularly and record it.
- In consideration of the increasing number of infected people and deaths all over the world, we strongly request you to refrain from going for a trip.
- In case you have any symptoms of cold such as high fever, please contact the office below, stay home, and do not join the orientation.
